The duty of ministers of the Gospel to preach the truth; illustrated in a sermon: delivered at the ordination of the Rev. Edward Dorr Griffin, A.M.... Jonathan Edwards

"The truth then intended in the doctrine is primarily evangelical truth, and secondarily all other truth which relates to the gospel and tends to illustrate it; as all truth relating to God and his character, especially his moral perfections; all truth relating to his supreme, universal and sovereign government; all truth relating to his law, its requirements and threatenings; relating to sin, its nature and evil; relating to ourselves, our present fallen state, and the ruin consequent on the fall; particularly our native and total depravity, our actual sins and the various aggravations of them; our demerit as sinners; our dependence on the mere mercy and sovereign grace of God; our own moral inability to bring ourselves to repentance and holiness of heart and life, and our absolute insufficiency to make satisfaction for our sins; the necessity of an atonement and one of infinite value, correspondent to the demerit of our sin; the character of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, his divinity, his humanity, his offices, his sufferings in our stead, and his readiness to save sinners of every description, who come to him for this purpose; the conditions of his salvation, the privileges and rewards of it, and the inevitable consequences of a rejection of it."

This is an edition of a classical book first published in the eighteenth century.
