Not illustrated. 1901 Excerpt: ...I was a funny little toad, and looked just like Bob. He smelt of cigars. I wonder who else I belong to? Yes, there's another one--that's "Gamma." "It was Gamma's baby, so it was." I declare, I do not know who I belong to; but I'll holler, and maybe I'll find out There comes snuffy with catnip tea. I'm going to sleep. I wonder why my hands won't go where I want them to? A BOY'S COMPLAINT. HBOY don't have much comfort in life anyway, when the grown folks begin to get after him! A boy has an awful lot of work to do. There is going errands--that's about the hardest and longest job in the world. It's astonishing the time it takes to go on an errand. Now, when I'm sent to the neighbors for yeast, it seems as though it would take all day. I oan't exactly explain it, but there are such a lot «f things coming up in the way all the time. First, there's a chippy on the teli-graph wire, and sometimes I piek up nearly a ton of stones and throw at the chippy, and he won't fly away. Seems as if he was stuffed, and glued on, he stays and stays there, and I can't hit him. Of course that takes time. Then another fellow goes with me and that takes more time. Did you ever notice that it takes two boys longer to go on an errand than it does one? That's because two boys see more things to stop for than one does. My mother says she wishes I could find some way to get over the ground quicker, and so I've been trying to find a way, and I think I've found it. Do you know how to make a "eart wheel"? Well, I won't show you here, but you just go along with hands and feet over and over sideways like a wheel. I'm gettlng it down fine so I can go pretty fast, and beat Tommy Jones all to pieces; its fun, too, I tell you. Nothing for a boy like combining b...
